To whom it may concern.

I am the lead singer in the religious incantation of Rajneeshism. I come from a well-to-do Indian family with a long aristocratic tradition, and in general I have lived a good life. But with Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh here is the most beautiful and the richest part of my life.

I have been a singer all my life. And now living with Bhagwan has enhanced my singing, filled my life with a new meaning and splendour; I feel that my entire life has become a song, a music.

Here in Rajneeshpuram I have experience from time to time of His silence, His grace, which is of the highest. This silence cannot be put into words. It is all divine and godly. All existence comes from silence, and disappears into it, but silence itself remains. It is indestructible, it is deathless, it is eternal.

Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh is one of the rare, the most rare men of all our history, like Buddha, Krishna, Lao-Tzu and Christ who attained and experienced godhood and became one with it. But in one respect He is very different and unique, in that He accepts life in its totality, both the material and spiritual parts of life. He brings an altogether new religion to mankind which unites the earth and the heavens together and makes life whole and holy. Besides, Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh forms the bridge between East and West whose unity is the crying need of the hour.

In my view U.S.A. is most fortunate, and it is its greatest privilege to have Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh on its soil. Future history of mankind will remember U.S.A. more for His presence and work here than for its glittering affluence and splendid technological civilization.

Yours faithfully,
