To Whom it may Concern:

I have been a follower of Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh since 1978. The contribution he has made, in his teachings, to my life has been enormous, both personally, and in my work as a schoolteacher and counsellor. He has brought me much closer to my own family, so that I stayed with them in London last month both before and after visiting Oregon, and helped my sister, the Lady Olga Maitland, in her organisation of a reception for the 'Women and Families for Defence' party, the day after my return.

My father, the Earl of Lauderdale, is among other things, a committed & active Christian. We have spent many hours talking warmly together about our religion and while accepting the different directions that each takes, we find always common ground rather than division.

Shree Rajneesh has opened my heart to a world that I had not known existed, a world in which it is possible to live in harmony and warmth and love.

His methods are utterly practical; he invites us to explore his ways through working, through living among other people, through contributing all that we are to ~~the~~ the work we are involved in, and to share our joy generously. He is an outstanding religious teacher of our time.
