To whom it may concern,

Born in 1949 into a middle class family I was educated at Public School, on completion of which I joined the Royal Navy on a short service commission. Retiring five years later as a lieutenant I went into the catering trade where I opened a restaurant in Germany. After six years I met a man who changed my life.

Having had a good career, good family life and good money it was surprising to me to discover that there was even more to life. This 'more' was shown to me by my Master Bhagwan Shree Rajarish. He systematically opened doors in me which had been closed for so long showing me in what a limited way I had been living. I never realised before meeting him how many talents I had. I began to fashion my life more on what I am rather than what I would like to be, and from then

It was success all the way. My previous career had been financially rewarding but spiritually unrewarding. Everything I undertake now has a different flavour than before, is more creative than before and is more successful than before.

All this has happened without a single instruction ever having been given to me and yet it has happened. His influence on me has been tremendous, even here in Ganna

Rajneeshpuram is the Dream of the Greatest Man of our Time, a living Master. His influence is directly responsible for the immense vitality that can be found here. So few people creating so much in such short a time is to me a miracle. Hard work by happy people becomes worship. A worship of our Master and a celebration of our lives. Not an airy-fairy flower power score but a grounded sincere experiment to explore all our potential given to us by existence. To witness our festivals is to experience 10,000 people of different nationalities, creeds and religions dropping their barriers and living harmoniously.

Yours Sincerely
