To Whom it may concern, I am a member of the Australian Institute of Marine & Power Engineers. I received my qualifications at the Sydney school of Mechanical Engineering & have served as engineer on the Australian coast for many years.

Technology today has advanced far beyond the spiritual wealth & emotional maturity of those who control it. This has created a very dangerous situation in the world.

The worlds of Science, Art, and Religion have become strangers to one another, even antagonistic. We can have one world and represent the rest, or feel more as they clamour for supremacy.

Bhagwan's vision is a holistic approach to life which allows us to be scientific in the laboratory, artistic in the studio and prayerful in the temple.

When these three worlds love and allow each other great genius is born. This is what Bhagwan calls the new man.

Hence Bhagwan's inspiration embraces science and religion and must surely be one of the most worthwhile experiments on the earth today. When science and meditation embrace each other how can there be war or poverty?

Yours Sincerely
R.W. Sopher
