

GEORGE ZIEGLER
43 LINNAEAN TR
CAMBRIDGE, MA

To Whom It May Concern

The 2nd Annual World Celebration is over and 15000 Devotees, Lovers, Feeders left the "little world" of this Desert Oasis Equestrian. This little world composed out of people of any colour, any race, any religion any country any continent gathered in one common sense: That something extraordinary is going on here. "HERE" is Thegan Three Equestrian, the big tree in the middle of this oasis, giving shade, shelter, fruit to so many who looked for it, searched for it.....

Learning, searching and researching for many years, growing up in the world of art and music, having been taught by most talented masters of their instruments, changing direction into science; going through the training as a biologist and chemist I came in touch with many celebrities of music, medicine, biology and psychology, people who were recognized in their own fields and furthermore interesting for their wider overall vision beyond their specialization in art or science.

A scientist who had some qualities of the artist in his laboratory and the artist who worked scientifically with his students caught always my fascination and interest as a student.

What to say about the moment when I came across this man who talked the language of the poet, with the logic and precision of the scientist and yet touching me in a way one normally gets to hear about only through the biographies or scriptures of our great mystics.

None of my Professors or teachers told me before, that there is an "Answer" beyond questions and answers, that there is a Science, which connects all parts and all ways to one whole, and that the art of this science can only be found within each of us

When I heard Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh talking about Religion as the "inner science", about The Answer Beyond the many questions of the mind, there was this moment of "knowing" without really understanding yet, that this was truth, spoken from the very source of it.

I am very thankful to all the teachers I learned from at Conservatory or University, but seeing their own searching ~~and~~, doubting and questioning I wouldn't have ever dared to ask them, whether they can teach me something about Truth, about "The Answer" about something my heart felt ignorant about.

Ordinarily "blessed moments" in our life are rather rare, because our belief in our own limitations cloud the possible expansion of our self, our minds, our hearts. Belief preventing us from new experiences, traps habitual living from experimenting with our own potential.

I feel very blessed, that I got the opportunity to be close to someone who lives without any limitations who actualized all potential, who's 'silent presence teaches me all the "answers" I never could find with any teacher, any book, in any Religion or church.

Arts and science in their perfection and intelligence seem to be the most important outcome of our daily life. How ordinary it all appears if the essence of wisdom and love is missing.

The Presence of wisdom, of love, of Understanding, of caring for one's life is needed to give the material living the light and meaning back it deserves, to unify our spiritual needs together with the material and intellectual.

Atma Bhagwan shall forgive something for me very important is happening and it seems that 15000 people gathered around him here in Ragneshpwan and 350000 around the globe share this gratitude and happiness with me.

All these people consider Bhagwan (beyond his academical credentials of thousands of given lectures and hundreds of books on his account)
as the most very important person
in their lives.

As we need our government as the guarant for our personal and social freedom to help to create this sense of acceptance and tolerance amongst our different colours, languages, beliefs So, it seems many of us are longing for help to create an inner milieu of freedom and love in our own heart and being, the core of our religious freedom.

No doubt, Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh, a most outstanding, most valuable, most important person in many ways (*)
can be the proud and the gain of this rich and free country. What more lucky can a country be than giving home to a person living in uttermost
intelligence, love, freedom and richness.
Yours sincerely
Hester