To whom it may concern.

As a songwriter and a performing and recording artist, much of my time is spent waiting. Waiting for these rare moments when a song comes along, delivering a message from a place I have not yet been. I am sure any creative person knows the experience, it does not matter what shape the message takes, maybe it is a song - a poem - or an invention.

To me Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh is that unheard song - unspoken poem - or uninvented invention. Whenever one of these rare moments happen to me I hear it, I get the message. In whatever form I meet him, I feel it. I hear it through his words, spoken or written. I feel it in his presence, in his movements. No matter how he chooses to express himself - this unmistakable quality is always present, this unique quality you only can recognize in a remarkable man. Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh is a source of divine inspiration to every man who remains receptive.

Yours faithfully
