To Whom it May Concern :

I have been a student of History of Art and Oriental languages and literature at the University of Würzburg, Germany. During the years of my studies I was reading with increasing interest books of ancient Eastern mystics and Poets (e.g. Hafiz, Rumi, Chajjan) and I discovered that they had great wisdom about Human Consciousness. Especially they seemed to have a more complex understanding of the word "love"; it indicated a sacred, transforming power.

At the same time I attended lessons in psychology where "love" was more or less understood as a social need.

My teacher in Oriental languages was a Persian physicist - so the discussions concerning the poems would include Einsteins "Theory of Relativity" as well as subjects about modern psychology, Education and Meditation.

Through these studies books of Baghwan Shree Rajneesh came into my hands, and by reading them I more and more recognised that they were statements of a person with an outstanding knowledge in the science of psychology as well as unique poetry.

And more than that I realised that reading His words directly affected the welfare of my psyche, they transported silence and love.

Looking back as a disciple of Baghwan Shree Rajwesh I see that all my scientific enquiries at University had been an intellectual approach to find Him as a real mystic, as a living spiritual Master.

Right now I am living since three months in His commune as a visitor. I experience that Baghwan is helping thousands of people to transform their consciousness through therapists in groups, and His vision inspires the rapid and intelligent development of a whole city.

His love is the transforming energy inside and outside.

He is a gift to the whole Humanity - and especially to America.

Love
