To whom it may concern

When I became a sannyasin, almost 5 years ago, I was a person without hope and trust in the world. What Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh gave me was the possibility to feel that life is a gift, and that it is inside ourselves where we have the key for its interpretation. This whole experience has been an experience of joy, also through the pain and the suffering of the change. For me the teaching of Bhagwan is this: to become available to joy.

Particularly since He has entered into silence His teaching has reached deep and total levels inside myself, which are beyond the words that only touch the surface of the meaning and the power of things, and which are beyond the mind that sticks to images and creates wrong masters.

I had been sceptical, violent and always ready to express this violence towards the others; in this journey in meditation I found much more than what I was hoping for: the chance to believe in life and to love it. This is our religion, our working and staying together in the name of Bhagwan, an example of which is available with the City of Rajneeshpuram: the hope of the new man.

Yours faithfully
