To whom it may concern,

When I took Saungos in July 1981, Bhagwan had already stopped speaking. I never heard him speaking except on tapes and videotapes. And I never felt that I missed something, because my relation to Bhagwan does not happen mainly through words. I feel him deep in my heart and what he does me through his presence, I can hardly explain in words. The greatest miracle with him is in silence. His love and His acceptance - I can only express it that way - love gives me my real life. That's why I feel tremendously grateful to him. For me - personally - I no need that he ever speaks again. Even if I listen to tapes or videotapes of him, I hardly listen to his exact words, I mainly listen to what is said in between his words, what I can only describe poorly as love and it is that, what heals and leads me to my inner being.

I am tremendously happy, that I came across this living master and all my hopes are, that he can stay here with us, so that I have the opportunity to share his presence

Sincerely
